How To Prepare Your DIY Conversation Cubes

- When using the blank conversation cube, you may add several questions to each side of your blank cube:
 - move to the next question when one has already been answered
 - offer other options if a child gets stuck and can't think of an answer for any of the questions you prepared.
- Give each child an opportunity to roll a conversation cube.
 - They can choose their own, or you can go through each cube as a round and then start on the next cube.
- Give the children ample time to figure out how they want to answer each question and make sure that everyone knows there are no incorrect answers.
